There are more than thirty-two thousand different types of spiders in the world. Most people hate them because they run very fast or sit in the bath but that's just small spiders. What about the really scary spiders?

Tarantulas are the biggest spiders in the world. They can grow to 25 cm long (including their legs). They live in South America and are brown, orange and hairy. Many people think they are very dangerous but you can't die from a tarantula bite. Their bite can be very painful and their hairs can give you a rash. Tarantulas live for 25 years. They eat birds and frogs.

The most dangerous spider is the black widow spider. It is much smaller than a tarantula and is only 2.5 cm long. It is called a black widow because it kills its mate and eats it.

You can die from a black widow spider bite. It injects poison into your blood and you can die in twenty-four hours. The smallest spider is 0.5 mm long.

Spiders have between 6 and 12 eyes. They eat their webs.
