1) Pancake Day is celebrated in the UK on Tuesday, about forty days before Easter.

A pancake is a very thin cake fried in a frying pan and served while still hot with jam, cream and sugar. There are many traditions about Pancake Day in Britain, for example pancake races. The competitors who take part in the race hold a pancake in a frying pan and run to the finishing line. The winner is not the person who comes first, but the person who tosses the pancake and catches it in the frying pan the biggest number of times. The most famous pancake race takes place at Olney. According to tradition, in 1445 a woman of Olney heard the church bell while she was making pancakes and did not have time to change her clothes but decided to run to the church in her apron, holding her frying pan with a pancake in her hands. The Olney Pancake Race is now world famous. Competitors have to be local housewives and they must wear an apron and a hat or scarf.

2) In a small village in the county of Gloucestershire, at the end of May each year, the annual cheese-rolling takes place. It is a race to chase a piece of cheese. However, it cannot be any piece of old cheese. Gloucestershire is famous for tasty cheeses and a special type is used in cheese-rolling. The race takes place on a hill. At a given signal, the cheese is rolled down the hill and the competitors chase it. The first person to get to the bottom is the winner and gets cheese as a prize. This strange event has been going on for at least two hundred years.
