Sylvia lives near Birmingham with her husband Matt and two children. She came to Britain from Canada twelve years ago when she got married. Her daughter's name is Kate and her son's name is Paul. They are twins. They were born in 2005. Sylvia is a student at open university. This means she watches special programmes on TV and works at home. She sends her work to her course teacher every week. She's studying art and the course is really interesting. At the moment she's reading about Italian painters in Italian, which is difficult because her Italian isn't perfect. She speaks perfect French because she comes from a bilingual family. Her mother is French-speaking Canadian who lives in Montreal. Sylvia also speaks Russian a little. She had Russian lessons at her high school in Canada. Sylvia's course started a year ago and it's four years long. After she graduates, she's going to look for a job in an art gallery or museum. Now she is a housewife.
