III. Reading

Dear Terry,

Greetings from Perugia, Italy! The city is really busy because a lot of tourists are here for EuroChocolate, the city's annual chocolate festival. Actually, all the hotels were full, so I'm staying in a hostel instead. The festival lasts for nine days and includes lots of fun events. I've tried lots of different types of tasty chocolate and I've seen a display of chocolate sculptures!

See you when I get back,

Donald

Hi Jane!

I woke up early so I'm going for a stroll on the beach now. Much nicer day today. Earlier, I picked up some groceries from the shop. There's bread and fruit in the kitchen for breakfast. Also, I asked the receptionist about the book festival. It starts next Wednesday, but that's the day we fly home.

Linda

Hi Ted,

Here I am in Gothenburg, Sweden! I'm here for the International Science Festival. The event has attracted over 100,000 science fans to the city! I haven't got to know many people though, because most people don't speak English. It's a pity I can't speak Swedish! Anyway, yesterday, I took part in the Young Scientist's Competition. I didn't win, but I really enjoyed showing off my invention.

See you soon,

Sandra

Dear Diary,

What a day! I've just returned home and I feel exhausted! In the end, the fundraiser was huge success. We had a minor problem with the sound during the concert, but Frank took care of it before anyone noticed. And most important of all, we raised over £5,000! Lisa and I plan to take the cheque to the homeless shelter tomorrow morning. I can't wait to see the look on their faces!
